SECTION 1: RATIONALE AND OBJECTIVES OF THE LIBRARY MANUAL

This manual of operation is intended to guide the library staff, the administration, and library users on the basic policies, operations, and activities in the library. This provides directions on how the library system operates, and when transacting business with various publics, the library has obligations and responsibilities to serve. Individual performance of the library staff shall be expected to be in accordance with the procedures detailed in this manual.

The objectives of this library manual are the following:

1) Provides support on the decision-making process, coordination, and effective control in the library organization;

2) Identifies responsible and accountable person on the delivery of library services and maintenance of the facilities;

3) Guides specific action on dealing with routine activities in the library operation;

4) Sets directions and goals of the library management in congruence with the school
's primary obligation to provide quality education;

5) Facilitates efficient and effective management of library resources, services and facilities.

SECTION 2: CITY COLLEGE GENERAL MANDATE, VISION, MISSION, GOALS AND CORE VALUES

General Mandate

The City College of Cagayan de Oro City shall provide quality, accessible, relevant, and future-ready education, and training that aligns with the evolving needs of the local job market, contribute to the equitable development of Cagayan de Oro City, and enhance its global competitiveness, thereby fostering economic growth and social mobility within the region.

It shall equip students with relevant skills, knowledge, and practical experiences to secure meaningful and sustainable employment. It shall produce graduates with high levels of academic, thinking, behavioral, and technical skills/competencies that are aligned with national academic and industry standards and needs and international standards, when applicable.

Vision

"A City College that nurtures and produces global citizens supported by cutting-edge technologies for innovation and excellence by 2033."

Mission

"Our mission is to provide transformative and inclusive learning driven by cutting-edge technologies, including artificial intelligence, that equip the institution and the community to create innovative, relevant, and data-driven solutions for local and global impact.

We are committed to addressing the needs of the Cagayan de Oro youth and of the indigenous peoples' communities by respecting and incorporating culture and tradition to address societal challenges and drive positive change.

We actively contribute to sustainable development goals by forging strategic partnerships, engaging relevant research and extension, and equipping our graduates with professionally-aligned competencies."

Goals

- Academic Excellence and Innovation: Establish a culture of academic excellence and innovation by integrating cutting-edge technologies, including artificial intelligence, into the curriculum.

- Inclusivity and Cultural Sensitivity: Foster inclusivity and cultural sensitivity to address the needs of both the local youth and indigenous communities.

- Community Engagement and Impact: Actively contribute to sustainable development goals and drive positive change within the local community.

- Transparency, Openness, and Ethical Conduct: Uphold an environment of transparency, integrity, mutual respect, and ethical conduct in all aspects of the institution's operations.

- Environmental Stewardship: Pursue environmental sustainability and responsible development.

Core Values

ADAPTIVENESS. We embrace change and possess the flexibility to navigate evolving landscapes, a changing society, and the diversity of people for advancing quality learning and preparing students for the 21st century and upliftment of the community.

INNOVATIVENESS. We push boundaries and explore new ideas that will lead to new and innovative solutions to poverty, social inequality, unemployment, digital divide, and climate change.

MISSION-DRIVEN. We commit to a shared vision of making a meaningful difference and contributing to the greater good by providing and maintaining a student-centered campus experience where everyone is respected and empowered.

HONESTY. We uphold an environment of transparency, integrity, and ethical conduct in all aspects of curriculum, instruction, research, and community engagements.

INCLUSIVITY. We celebrate diversity and promote inclusivity in all aspects of our institution. We value unique backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives of our students, faculty, and staff. We strive to create an inclusive and welcoming environment that respects and appreciates the contributions of every individual, ensuring equal opportunities for growth and success.

GOD-FEARING. We deeply acknowledge the profound importance of spirituality and moral grounding in our institution. Guided by principles of faith, compassion, and justice, we strive to cultivate a nurturing environment that fosters personal and collective growth.

HUMANE. We recognize and value the inherent dignity and worth of every individual. We are dedicated to treating everyone with respect, empathy, and understanding. We strive to treat everyone with empathy, kindness, and compassion, both within our organization and in our interaction with the wider community.

EXCELLENCE. We pursue continuous improvement and set high standards for ourselves, pushing beyond mediocrity to achieve exceptional results in environmental stewardship, sustaining life, and responsible development.

RESPECT. We cultivate an environment of mutual respect where diverse perspectives are valued and differing opinions are heard. We place a premium on open-dialogue, professionalism, empathy, ethical conduct, and personal growth. We foster a sense of belonging, collaboration, and well-being for all members of our community.

SECTION 3: COLLEGE LIBRARY VISION, MISSION AND GOALS

Vision

"In support of the vision and mission of City College of Cagayan de Oro, the library is steadfast in providing access to information resources using cutting-edge technologies, facilitating their use in the learning process, and reinforcing the College values of academic excellence and lifelong learning.

Mission

To this end, the library pursues the following long-term goals:

- Provide access to information resources that meet the teaching and learning needs of students, faculty, staff, and others in the community.
- Provide access, both on and off campus, to networked information resources.
- Provide reference services and a program of instruction that will help empower independent inquiry.
- Provide a physical environment conducive to study and learning.
- Remain current in the fields of librarianship and information science.

Goals

- To develop and enhance the capability of the library resources and services in meeting the demands of the curricular, instructional, informational, and research programs of the academic community by providing regular funding for the yearly acquisition of print, non-print, and digital library resources;
- To establish collaborative learning spaces and information commons that provide interactive, seamless access to various digital resources and a scholarly atmosphere for learning;

- To establish a strong library linkage with other institutions and agencies in the country and explore possible linkages with organizations and agencies from foreign countries;
- To provide services that enhance the quest for knowledge and intellectual activity.

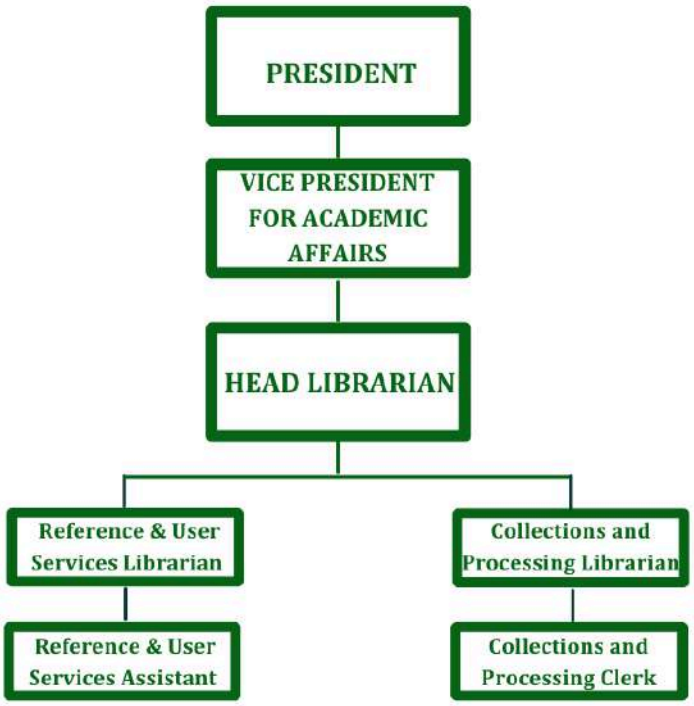

SECTION 4: ADMINISTRATION

4.1 Library Administration Policies

SECTION 5:
COLLECTION AND MANAGEMENT POLICY

5.1 Selection Policy

The library shall strive to collect library resources in the following formats: books, other print resources, and non-print materials, such as digital, online resources, and online databases.

5.1.1 Selection Responsibility

The faculty and the librarian are jointly responsible for selecting library materials. As such, the faculty is urged to actively participate in the selection of library resources. The faculty has the responsibility to ensure that library resources adequately support the courses they are teaching. While faculty recommendations are welcome, the library staff must be responsible for areas neglected by the faculty to achieve a well-balanced/well-rounded collection. The ultimate responsibility in keeping with the library's directions in collection development rests with the library administration in general.

5.1.2 Procedure in the Selection/Acquisition Process

The faculty members read book reviews and examine current publisher's catalogs for examination.

1. In requesting materials for purchase, the following information must be provided:
    - Subject Code
    - Number of Copies
    - Title
    - Author
    - Publication Date
    - Company
    - Price
2. These recommended catalogs and checklists of books with reviews that were examined by the faculty members are sent to their respective Program Heads for checking according to the priority that they need.

3. The Program Heads checks the title and endorse them to the College Dean.
4. The College Dean modifies the list according to their budget allocation and submits it to the library.
5. The titles requested are checked by the Library Staff against the holdings of the library to avoid duplication. If the material requested is an exact duplicate in content and edition, the College Dean will be notified and asked for further instructions.
6. Final lists prioritizing the needs of each department are compiled.
7. The compiled list of library materials that shall be acquired, purchased, or subscribed from all academic departments are consolidated in a Project Procurement Management Plan (PPMP) prepared by the Library and submitted to the Budget Office for funding and to the President's Office for approval after it has been signed by the Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

5.2 Acquisition Policy

The library should plan to obtain within its financial capabilities miscellaneous library materials such as books, professional journals, periodicals, maps, pamphlets, newspapers, audiovisual materials, government documents, and subscriptions to online databases required to meet the following obligations:

1. To obtain and make accessible materials of all types needed for instruction and research programs of the college;
2. To provide materials required by students and faculty in their research;
3. To obtain materials of general and recreational information not covered by instructional or research programs.

5.2.1 Acquisition of materials is specifically guided by the following criteria:

a. Popular fiction having short-term interest among readers is not purchased. Established literary works and new works receiving critical acclaim in the literary field are considered, especially those works that support literature course offerings. Literary prizewinners are purchased when funds permit.
b.Textbooks are selected unless recommended by faculty as exceptional resources. Exceptions are those that have earned a reputation as "classics" in their fields or which are the only or best sources of information on a particular topic or for a particular user group.

c. Reference materials. The Library will maintain a reference collection that is current, authoritative and well-balanced resource materials in all major fields of knowledge. The reference collection includes encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases, directories, indexes, bibliographies, statistical compilations, handbooks, and Internet resources.

d. The library staff reviews the reference collection annually to ensure currency and accuracy. Reference materials are collected in print, electronic, and online formats. On occasion, the superseded edition may be retained along with the new edition if some of the forms have research value.

e. Filipiniana materials. The library will acquire books and other materials relating to the Philippines written by Filipino and non-Filipino authors on any subject and all works by Filipino authors, including translations. The library will only maintain those that are relevant to the curriculum.

f. Serials, periodicals, journals, and newspapers are publications issued in successive parts bearing numeric or chronological designations and intended to be continued indefinitely. Serials are issued in print and electronic formats. All formats will be considered in the library's procurement. Newspapers are not kept permanently but are discarded according to the retention schedule periodically reviewed by the librarian.

g. Audiovisual materials, including videotapes, audiotapes, compact disks, and DVDs, are collected and housed in the Audiovisual Room. Audiovisual materials are purchased at the faculty's request.

h. Electronic materials will be collected when that format is most effective for supporting teaching and research and when it is cost-effective.

i. Online Resources/Internet-based materials will be considered when they provide the most current and/or cost-effective resources.

j. City College Publications- These materials include catalogs, brochures, bulletins, handbooks, manuals, yearbooks, dissertations, and annual reports issued by the school. Also included are journals, newsletters, and campus newspapers published by the academic community (administration, Faculty, Students, Non –academic personnel, and Alumni)

5.3 Gifts and Exchange Policy

5.3.1 Gifts

Gifts are welcome to expand and enhance or develop the library collections. The library solicits and encourages gifts and donations of useful materials provided they fit into the acquisition policies and no restrictions are attached. It is the general policy of the library not to accept gifts with conditions as to their dispositions or location except with the express permission of the College President. Generally, the library will not provide donors with appraisals of gift materials; such appraisal is the donor's responsibility. The Library is free to dispose of any unneeded publications and assigns them to the Supply Office for necessary action regardless of how they were acquired.

5.3.2 Exchange

The library will enter into exchange agreements with other institutions whenever desired publications are available only on exchange and whenever such exchange is advantageous to the library as determined by the Head, College Library Services Office.

5.4 Preservation Policy

“Preservation, as it applied to library and archive material, can be defined as all managerial and financial considerations including storage and accommodation, provision, staffing levels, policies, techniques, and methods involved in preserving library and archive materials and the information contained therein.”

As an institution committed to building collections for the use of students, faculty, and researchers, the library is obligated to ensure long-term access to its collection and intellectual content by providing a preservation program. This program shall be employed to properly care for and prolong the life of books and other library materials for the use of the academic community.

The following are the guiding principles and elements in the preservation of library materials:

1. Provide a moderate and stable temperature and humidity level, as well as control exposure to light and pollutants, for general circulating collections, but most especially for rare books, special collections, or archival materials.
2. Use non-damaging storage enclosures and proper storage furniture, clean storage areas, and use care when handling, exhibiting, or reformatting collections.
3. Provide monitoring camera and security personnel to safeguard library collections from theft and/or vandalism. Since loss and vandalism of general collections result in unnecessary replacement and expense.
4. Provide in-house book repair to keep books in good condition.
    - Identify materials requiring preservation measures, such as rare books out of print titles of Filipiniana;
    - Evaluate and improve the physical care of library materials by repairing and mending pages that require treatment.
    - Set aside for repair and conservation of the book that is found to be damaged or deteriorated.
    - Replace with photocopies of the book pages that are missing when another copy is available for duplication.
5. Rebind damaged volumes to provide sturdy copies, especially on heavy-use general collections.
6. Reformat or reproduce deteriorating collections onto stable media to preserve the informational content or where the originals are fragile or valuable, and handling is restricted. This includes microfilming, production of preservation facsimiles, and duplication of audiovisual collections.
7. Digital imaging will be used to create digital objects that will act as preservation copies of original items.
8. Provide a Disaster risk reduction plan to prevent and respond to collection damage from water, fire, or other emergency situations.
9. Educate staff and users in proper handling techniques and conservation of library material through orientation, training, or seminars.
10. The library shall widen the dissemination of information on the proper care and handling of library materials.

5.5 Weeding out Policy

5.5.1 Principle in Weeding Library Materials

In order to keep the collection dynamic and functional, certain materials will be withdrawn from the shelves. Evaluation as to the usefulness of the existing collection shall be the joint responsibility of the librarian and the faculty members. Removal of certain materials in the collection shall be based on the following guidelines:

1. Last date of circulation. If the material has not been used for the past ten (10) years, it is weeded.

2. Physical condition. If the physical condition of the book is bad, this has to be weeded. A decision must be made whether to replace it or not, depending on the needs.

3. Timeliness. This refers to:
    a. Out-of-date materials, particularly in the sciences and technology. Materials with copyrights older than 5 years are considered for weeding.
    b. Materials that do not support the curriculum
    c. Older editions are no longer useful.
4. Reliability. Materials or titles that support outdated views and contain unreliable information.

Discarding or weeding out of library materials according to a specific classification of the collection is guided by the following criteria:

a. Reference and General Works
The encyclopedia should be considered for updating after five years and usually no later than ten years. Bibliographical sources shall be considered within this same time frame. Yearbooks and almanacs shall be updated as superseded.

b. Philosophy and Psychology
Self-help psychology and guidance materials may need to be reviewed for updated pictures and concepts. Most unscholarly works are useless after 10 years.

c. Religion and Mythology
Religious materials should be reviewed individually to ensure that as many points of view as possible are presented. To make room for new books on religions, withdraw older books from a subject already well covered. There are many beautiful new books on mythology; check carefully for old ones. If they are not being used much, remove them to make room for newer, more appealing ones.

d. Social Science
Books on government need to be checked for accuracy and readability. Books dealing with careers and occupations need to be updated every five or six years or as the need arises. Although folk tales and fairy tales never go out of style, the many lavishly illustrated new volumes available may justify pulling the older, less attractive, and less used books.

e. Languages
Weed out unused volumes to make room for more interesting books. Most dictionaries can be retained, but discard old classroom volumes.

f. Pure Science
This needs frequent careful revision because of the constant advances in science, especially in the sections on the universe, weather, and scientific experiments. Check carefully for information accuracy and copyright dates. Prehistoric animals must also be checked for accuracy and signs of excessive wear and tear. Books on wild animals, plants, and rocks may not go out of date as rapidly, but they need to be checked for usage, beauty, and text clarity.

g. Technology.
Rapid technological advances require that books in this section be checked for copyright date. Five to seven years will change the information. Remove out-of-date books in these fields.

h. Arts and Recreation
Beautifully illustrated art and music history books need no discarding. These materials may be irreplaceable, so check only for damaged or worn-out conditions. Drawing and crafts books need more careful inspection because of their popularity. However, worn or unattractive books may be discarded to make room for new editions.

i. Literature
Literary history is seldom discarded unless drastic curriculum changes are made. Collections versus individual works of major and minor poets, novelists, and playwrights may be weighed against curriculum needs and use patterns. Keep the works of local people. The poetry and drama sections do not need much weeding, so check primarily for unused books. The jokes and riddles section needs frequent checking for damage and wear and tear.

j. History, Geography, and Biography
Historical books need not be discarded unless inaccurate or in poor condition. Geography and travel books need to be discarded and replaced more frequently due to the constant changes in today's world. Biographies of sports and entertainment personalities can be discarded when their popularity wanes. Biographies of historical characters should be retained, especially if they are being used.

k. Bibliographies
Unless the subject is of permanent interest or importance, discard it when demand wanes. Keep outstanding in content or style as long as they are useful.

l. Fiction and Essay Patterns greatly influence the review of fiction collections. Popular materials for one year may sit on shelves at other times. Duplicate materials may no longer be appropriate. Replacement of popular worn items must be considered. Rebinding of out-of-print materials may be an option for materials that fill a specific curriculum need and reading interest.

m. Picture Books
Books that are miscataloged and should be in either the fiction or nonfiction section should be weeded at this time, re-cataloged, and correctly shelved. Books in this section are the ones that are most likely to be damaged. Look inside the book for torn, dirty, or child-colored pages.

n. Periodicals
Periodicals are not kept longer than 2 years unless indexed. If indexed, keep no longer than the oldest index or 5-8 years, depending on use. Newspaper clippings should be regularly examined for accuracy and relevance.

5.5.2 What not to Weed

Materials which contain the following are retained by the library:

1. Research Value. Materials in the humanities and social sciences contain research potential. As such, they are still valuable and should be kept in the library collection.

2. Out-of-Print. Materials that are out of print, even if they are unlikely to be used, should be retained.

3. Local History. The library retains most local history sources regardless of their conditions or use.

4. Balance. When the weeding of a title will throw off the balance of a subject area in the collection, the material must be retained.

5. Listing. The material must be retained if listed in the standard current bibliography.

5.5.3 Turn-Over of Weeded Library Materials

All library materials withdrawn are listed together and turned over to the Supply Office upon the recommendation of the Faculty Library Committee Members and the Approval of the College President.

5.5.4 Audit Guidelines on the Divestment or Disposal of Property and other Assets of National Government Agencies and Instrumentalities, Local Government Units and Government-Owned or Controlled Corporation and their Subsidiaries (COA Circular No.89-296, January 27, 1989)

In the disposal of the library resources that are no longer of use or serviceable the Library shall observe and adhere to the Commission on Audit guidelines in the divestment or disposal of its properties and other assets to achieve uniformity and consistency in the observance of audit procedures and to ensure facility in audit with respect to the divestment or disposal of property and other assets of all national government agencies/instrumentalities. (COA Circular No.89-296, January 27, 1989).

5.6 Cataloging and Classification Procedure

1. The library adheres to the basic principles of traditional practices as set by the following standard codes:

1.1 Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index
1.2 Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, Second Edition 1998 Revision (AACR2R98).
1.3 Cutter-Sanborn Three Figure Author Table
1.4 ALA Filing Rules (1980)

2. The library does original cataloging for library materials not found in the*Library of Congress* or without CIP; copy cataloging may be modified to conform to the policies used for original cataloging.

3. Original cataloging practices generally involve the following steps:

3.1 selecting the main entry
3.2 deciding added entries
3.3 recording the elements in bibliographic description
3.4 selecting appropriate subject entries using the Sears List of Subject Headings, LC List of Subject Headings, and the library's subject authority file
3.5 classifying the book according to the Dewey Decimal Classification System
3.6 encoding in the computer catalog

4. The complete process of establishing author and title entries (for original cataloging) are subdivided into these steps:

4.1 selecting the main entry
4.2 establishing the correct form of name for the main entry
4.3 deciding what added entries should be made for other persons or corporate bodies associated with the material
4.4 establishing the correct form of name for each of the additional entries
4.5 deciding what cross-references need to be made for alternative forms of the names selected in steps 4.2
4.6 deciding whether an entry should be made for the title
4.7 if the book is part of a series, decide whether an entry for the title of the series should be made
4.8 if the book consists of a number of parts, deciding whether any part is important enough to warrant a separate author and/or title entry

Descriptive Cataloging

The code adopted by the library for descriptive cataloging is the AACR2. The following practices are generally used.

1. Form of name

1.1 Accept the form of name given on the title page, unless the author is already listed in a different way in the catalog. When there is a choice to be made between forms of name or when there is a question as to which element of the name should be the entry point, consult encyclopedias, biographical dictionaries, and other tools to determine the form of name most frequently used. An attempt should be made to keep together all the works of an author.

1.2 A name authority file is maintained on the computer. This file shall consist of name headings used for problem names, prolific writers, and the cross references made to them from other forms. It also provides the call number used for all the works of an author.

1.3 Filipino surnames with prefixes are usually entered under the element by which they are more commonly or popularly known, unless identified otherwise in reference sources.

2. Cross References

2.1 Whenever a form of name significantly different from that on the title page is used for an entry, a cross reference is made.

2.2 After it has been decided that a name receives a cross-reference, the catalog or name authority file is checked for that cross-reference, which may have already been made.

2.3 Compound surnames, names with prefixes and names not entered under the last element also require cross references.

2.4 Names of corporate bodies frequently require cross references.

2.5 Related headings may be tied together by references.

2.6 Cross-references should be recorded so that they can be removed from the catalogs when books are withdrawn and the entries to which the cross references refer are removed from the catalogs.

3. Added Entries

3.1 Do not routinely make added entries for joint authors, translators, illustrators, or editors. Make added entries using the following guidelines:

3.1.1 Editors or compilers - If a collection of stories, poems, or articles by different authors is entered under title, an added entry is made.

3.1.2 Translators - An added entry is made for the translators only if the translation is in verse or if the work has been previously translated by many different translators.

3.1.3Illustrators - Added entries are not made for illustrators unless the illustrations are important features of the item.

3.2 At least one personal name entry is made for materials whose main entries are under corporate names, titles, or special headings.
3.3 When the main entry is not under the name of corporate body that had responsibility for the content of the work, as opposed to being only the publisher or issuing body, an added entry should be made for the corporate body.

4. Title

4.1 Make a title entry for all materials.
4.2 Title entries are not made for materials titled as Collected works, Letters, Poems, and Bulletin, because they are not meaningful without the author's names.
4.3 Title entries are not made for materials with titles that consist solely of the names of people.
4.4 The wording of the title is generally that which is found on the title page of the material being cataloged.
4.5 Capitalization of the title follows the capitalization rules presented in Appendix B of aarc2r98.

5. Series

5.1 If a series can be catalogued as a collected set under one call number, list the volumes together on the card. Make an added entry for each of the title in the series. Scattered volumes are recorded similarly.
5.2 If a series is catalogued under separate call numbers, maintain one series entry, listing down the volumes and their corresponding call numbers.
5.3 No series entry is made for publisher series.
5.4 A series authority file should be maintained in the computer catalog.

6. Publisher

6.1 The publisher's name is not necessarily recorded in the complete form used on the title page.

6.2 Phrases and terms such as “and company”, “and sons”, “Inc.”, “Ltd.”, and initial articles are omitted.
6.3 Forenames and initials of well-known publishers are omitted.

7. Date

7.1 Record the date appearing on the title page or the latest copyright date, if there is no publication date.

8. Edition

8.1 Successive editions are recorded. The customary way of recording successive edition is: 2nd ed., 3rd ed., rev. ed., rev. & enl. Ed., etc.

9. Illustrations

9.1 The abbreviation “ill.” Is used for illustrations in the book.
9.2 Colored illustrations are recorded as “col. Ill.”, “ill. (some col.)”, “all col.”, as the case may be.
9.3 Colored illustrations and special types of illustrations (maps, plates, ports., etc.) are specifically designated.

Assigning Subject Headings

The Sears List of Subject Headings and the Library of Congress List of Subject Headings, as well as the subject authority file are used to assign subject headings.

1. Subject headings are never assigned on the basis of titles alone. To determine the subject content of the book, the title page, the table of contents, and as much of the preface, introduction, and text are read as is necessary to grasp the substance and intent of the book.

2. Not all books need subject headings, e.g., fiction, poetry, letters, essays, and general writings of individual authors, are usually sought under the author's name or title. However, if it is considered useful, a subject heading is assigned, e.g., historical and biographical novels.

3. Select headings as specific as the books themselves. If no specific heading is available, select two or more headings, each of which brings out one aspect of the subject.

4. When a book covers two or three specific subjects, make separate headings for each subject. However, if many different subjects are included in a book, a broad heading covering all of them is selected.

5. Use subdivisions according to the directions in the authorized lists.

6. To maintain control over use of subject headings and references, make checkmarks on the headings and references in the authorized lists being used. Headings not provided in the lists are written on the spaces provided for.

7. Consult the catalogs whenever necessary to determine library practice and maintain consistency.

Classification

The library uses the Dewey Decimal Classification system for organizing its collection.

1. As a matter of general policy, the Technical Services Librarian maintains an authority class number which collocates into one Dewey number the books intended for a specific program. Classification numbers in the CIP or other such tools, or those downloaded, shall not be automatically used as the class number. Instead, the book shall be examined first to determine its usefulness or relevance to a specific program, especially those dealing with interdisciplinary topics. Books ordered by the Program Dean or faculty of a program shall be classified with that program.

2. The authority numbers for the programs are:

    - exception: entire resource or a substantial part thereof
    - substantial does not necessarily mean only quantity but the value of the copied parts in relation to the work
- Normal extract limits pursuant to Copyright and Fair use
    - Up to 1-2 chapters of a book
    - Up to 1 article only from one print journal issue
    - For thesis – abstract, introduction, related literature

Access and Request Procedure

1. Users must submit a request through the official Shelf2Screen Google Form: citycollegecdo.edu.ph/hvQ0K
2. Requests may be made for eligible portions of books, journals, theses, dissertations, magazines, and other library resources.
3. Users must provide complete and accurate bibliographic information, including the title, author, year of publication, and specific material requested.
4. Requests shall be reviewed and processed within three (3) to five (5) working days, subject to the volume of requests received and compliance with copyright regulations.
5. The Library reserves the right to deny incomplete requests or requests that exceed allowable copyright limits.
6. Approved requests shall be provided through a secure digital access link sent to the requestor's email address.
7. Access to the scanned material shall be available for five (5) calendar days from the date the access link is issued.
8. Upon expiration of the five-day access period, the access link shall automatically be deactivated.
9. Users who require additional portions of a resource must submit a new request through the Google Form and shall be subject to the same review process.

User Responsibilities

1. Scanned materials are provided exclusively for personal study, instruction, teaching, and research purposes.
2. Users shall not reproduce, distribute, upload, publish, sell, share, or otherwise make the scanned materials available to unauthorized persons.
3. Users shall comply with Republic Act No. 8293 and all applicable copyright and fair use provisions.
4. By submitting a request, users acknowledge and agree to abide by this policy.

Guidelines (Theses and Dissertations)

1. Scanning without permission of the thesis author is allowed only for abstracts, table of contents, introduction and review of related literature.
2. Scanning of other sections of the thesis will require the written permission of the thesis author. Request permission using a signed form allowing the library user to copy certain parts of the thesis. The College Library will provide the permission to Use Copyrighted Material form.
3. After securing the permission of the thesis author using the form, email a copy to library.citycollege@gmail.com.
4. Allow 1 to 3 working days to receive the scanned copy.

Library Services for Persons with Disabilities (PWDs)

The College Library Services Office (CLSO) is committed to providing equitable, inclusive, and accessible library services to all users, including Persons with Disabilities (PWDs).

To support their information, educational, and research needs, the CLSO shall provide the following reasonable accommodations and assistance:

1. Priority Assistance. Library personnel shall provide prompt and appropriate assistance to PWD users in accessing library resources and services, based on their individual needs.

2. Accessible Study Spaces. Designated or suitable study spaces on the first floor shall be made available to PWD users, particularly those with mobility limitations, subject to the accessibility and availability of facilities.

3. Staff-Assisted Retrieval of Library Materials. PWD users who encounter difficulty accessing books, journals, and other library resources, including those located on the second floor, may request assistance from library personnel.

4. Assisted Circulation and Reference Services. Library personnel shall assist PWD users with borrowing and returning library materials, locating information resources, and accessing reference services.

5. Assistance in Accessing Electronic Resources. PWD users may request assistance in accessing available electronic books, online databases, and other digital library resources.

6. Alternative Service Arrangements. For PWD users who cannot conveniently access certain areas of the library, personnel shall facilitate access to available resources and services through appropriate arrangements, whenever feasible.

All assistance shall be provided with respect for the dignity, independence, privacy, and individual needs of PWD users.

Theses and Dissertations
These materials are for inside reading only in the library. Photocopying of Undergraduate Theses, Graduate Theses, and Dissertations is strictly allowed for the Abstract portion only. Thus, no other pages are permitted to be photocopied.

Guidelines for Library Resources

Books from the Circulation and Filipiñiana are the only resources that can be borrowed for outside use.

- General Reference Books, Periodicals, and Theses can be used for inside reading only.

- Any library user who fails to return any library material on time will be charged five pesos (5.00) daily. Repeated overdue library materials will merit suspension of library privileges.

- All library materials must be returned promptly. Deliberately keeping them for personal use will result in the cancellation of borrowing privileges.

- Books borrowed must be inspected by the borrower for missing or mutilation of pages. Otherwise, any mutilated/damage done to the library materials shall be borne by the borrowers. A rebinding fee shall be charged to the borrowers for those materials that can still be repaired. Materials beyond repair must be paid with the replacement value of the book or library materials.

- Unauthorized withdrawal of books and other materials shall be deemed an act of theft and the offender shall be subject to penalties specified in the Student Handbook.

- Lost books must be reported at once. The fine on an overdue book stops when the book is reported lost. Any lost book is due for a replacement copy of the same title and edition. If a replacement copy is unavailable, the assessment shall be according to the current market cost of the book, plus a processing fee of P 50.00. Any book not returned at the end of a semester is considered lost.

General Conduct Inside the Library

1. Students should wear their Identification Card upon entering the library.

2. Library users are expected to respect the needs of other library users by maintaining a quiet and scholarly atmosphere in the library.

3. Loud talking, smoking, eating, or drinking in the library is prohibited.

4. Library users must return all library materials promptly when they are due to give other users a fair chance to utilize the library resources.

5. Any library user must act with decorum, especially when dealing with the library staff.

6. Students under the influence of liquor are not allowed to enter the library.

7. Present things or any library materials borrowed upon exit for inspection.

8. Students should leave their bags and other belongings at the baggage counter and not to leave their valuables (such as: devices, wallets, jewelries, etc.) unattended.

9. Library users must leave the books they browsed on the table.

10. Library users are encouraged to help keep the library clean by disposing of trash in the garbage can and returning chairs to their proper place after use.

11. The use of single-use plastics within the library premises is strictly prohibited in accordance with the College's institutional policy. Library users are encouraged to use reusable containers, tumblers, and other environmentally sustainable alternatives.

Acceptable Use of Electronic Resources

Electronic information resources refers to eBooks and other electronic resources which can be accessed electronically.

Guidelines

1. Access to and use of electronic resources and online content is restricted to authorized users within the City College of Cagayan de Oro community.

2. The term "Authorized users" includes people who are currently associated with City College of Cagayan de Oro, such as faculty, staff and students.

3. Users are responsible for using resources appropriately to maintain the integrity of the electronic information resources, and where appropriate, the privacy, confidentiality, and/or security of the electronic information.

4. Individuals should not give out, share, or otherwise allow anyone else to use the access privileges granted to them.

5. Authorized users are responsible for using these electronic resources for individual, noncommercial use only.

6. Misuse or violation of these restrictions may result in the termination of access to the electronic resources.

Copyright Policy

The Library adheres to the reproduction restrictions as contained in the Intellectual Property Code of the Philippines, R.A. 8293, Part IV, Chapter VIII as follows:

SEC. 187. Reproduction of Published Work

187.1. Notwithstanding the provision of Section 177, and subject to the provisions of Subsection 187.2, the private reproduction of a published work in a single copy, where the reproduction is made by a natural person exclusively for research and private study, shall be permitted, without the authorization of the owner of copyright in the work.

187.2. The permission granted under Subsection 187.1 shall not extend to the reproduction of:

(a) A work of architecture in form of building or other construction;
(b)An entire book, or a substantial part thereof, or of a musical work in which graphics form by reprographic means;
(c) A compilation of data and other materials;
(d) A computer program except as provided in Section 189; and
(e) Any work in cases where reproduction would unreasonably conflict with a normal exploitation of the work or would otherwise unreasonably prejudice the legitimate interests of the author.(n)

SEC. 188. Reprographic Reproduction by Libraries

188.1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Subsection 177.6, any library or archive whose activities are not for profit may, without the authorization of the author of copyright owner, make a single copy of the work by reprographic reproduction:

(a) Where the work by reason of its fragile character or rarity cannot be lent to user in its original form;

(b) Where the works are isolated articles contained in composite works or brief portions of other published works and the reproduction is necessary to supply them; when this is considered expedient, to person requesting their loan for purposes of research or study instead of lending the volumes or booklets which contain them; and

(c) Where the making of such a copy is in order to preserve and, if necessary in the event that it is lost, destroyed or rendered unusable, replace a copy, or to replace, in the permanent collection of another similar library or archive, a copy which has been lost, destroyed or rendered unusable and copies are not available with the publisher.

188.2. Notwithstanding the above provisions, it shall not be permissible to produce a volume of a work published in several volumes or to produce missing tomes or pages of magazines or similar works, unless the volume, tome or part is out of stock; Provided, That every library which, by law, is entitled to receive copies of a printed work, shall be entitled, when special reasons so require, to reproduce a copy of a published work which is considered necessary for the collection of the library but which is out of stock. (Sec. 13, P.D. 49a)

SECTION 7: PHYSICAL SET-UP AND FACILITIES POLICY

CHED MEMORANDUM ORDER (CMO)
No. 22
Series of 2021

SUBJECT: MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR LIBRARIES OF HIGHER EDUCATION INSTITUTIONS COMMON TO ALL PROGRAMS

In accordance with the pertinent provisions of Republic Act (RA) No. 7722, otherwise known as the "Higher Education Act of 1994," and Republic Act No. 9246 otherwise known as the "The Philippine Librarianship Act of 2003", and by virtue of the Commission en banc No. 927-2017 dated December 4, 2017, a set of minimum requirements for libraries of higher education institutions (HEIs) common to all programs, necessary to harmonize and standardize the different library requirements stipulated in the PSGs of all programs to have a common interpretation of said requirements by all stakeholders, is hereby adopted and promulgated by this Commission.

All types of schools under the three horizontal typology of HEIs, both in the highly urbanized areas as well as in the geographically isolated and disadvantaged areas, were considered in the preparation of this set of requirements. All institutions are encouraged to go beyond the minimum requirements to be able to adjust to the needs of the 21st century learners and educators in an ever-changing technological society. This will further improve the status and/or standards of the HEIs in terms of programs, resources and services. Moreover, libraries will become more responsive to the requirements of online teaching and flexible learning modalities.

With ICT applications, libraries shall be re-defined, re-structured, and re-designed to be relevant and responsive to flexible learning modalities and modern educational needs. Libraries need to shift their collections and services to online medium and in electronic/digital formats. Consequently, librarians shall be competent, proactive, and flexible in managing their libraries by adapting to the global changes in the areas of information aggregation, curation, and dissemination.

Section 1. Vision, Mission, Goals and Objectives (VMGO)

The library of an HEI shall have an explicit statement of its vision, mission, goals, and objectives in conformity with the institution's VMGO to serve as the framework for performing its role, functions, and responsibilities. It shall be visibly posted within the library premises and published in the library website.

Section 2. Administration

a. The supervision of the library shall be clearly defined within the organizational structure of the institution and shall be under the head of the institution or designated representative.

CITY COLLEGE OF CAGAYAN DE ORO

b. The library shall be administered by a licensed full-time head librarian with the following qualifications: 1) a Master's Degree holder in Library and Information Science or any related field; 2) a member of accredited professional organization; and, 3) with at least two (2) years of library-related supervisory experience.

c. For HEIs having several campuses, the presence of a licensed full-time librarian for each campus shall be based on librarian-student ratio as provided in Section 3 a.2 of this CMO.

d. The library shall have an advisory committee to assist the Head Librarian on matters pertaining to collection development and use. It shall be composed of designated representatives of the different colleges/departments and the student council/organization.

e. The library shall formulate a development/strategic plan to ensure continuous improvement of programs, resources and services.

f. The conduct of research to improve library and information services and operations shall be institutionalized.

g. The library shall have an updated manual of policies and procedures on its operations for both face-to-face and online.

h. An in-house evaluation of library programs, resources, services and personnel shall be conducted annually (e.g. library surveys, client/customer satisfaction surveys).

Section 3. Human Resources

a. The library shall have an adequate and qualified personnel for quality library and information services for face-to-face and online services.

1. The number of personnel shall be based on the user population, size and scope of collection, services offered, service hours, physical facilities, and programs for the implementation of online teaching and flexible learning modalities.

2. Ratio of licensed librarians and support staff shall vary depending on the size of user population:

Ratio	Minimum Requirement
For 1,000 and below user population (combined students, faculty and staff)	At least one (1) full-time licensed librarian and at least one (1) full-time support staff

For every additional 3,000 user population or a fraction thereof	At least one (1) additional full-time licensed librarian and at least three (3) additional full-time support staff to implement the face-to-face and online professional services and activities of the library

Note: Student assistant/s may be an augmentation to provide the necessary support services. However, the number of hours rendered by student assistant/s should be equivalent to the number of hours rendered by the required number of full-time support staff.

b. The qualifications of library personnel shall be as follows:

1. Librarians

   The librarians shall have the required valid license and are members of the accredited professional organization.

2. Support Staff

   The support staff are the paraprofessionals who are non-licensed and holders of any Bachelor's degree as well as graduates of grade 12 and associate degree programs.

c. The institution shall have a continuous library personnel development program to promote career progression and specialization.

Section 4. Collection Management

a. Selection and Acquisition

1. The selection of library resources, both print and electronic, including textbooks, shall be undertaken by the faculty in collaboration with the librarians not violative of the Intellectual Property Code.

2. The acquisition of library resources, both print and electronic, shall be the responsibility of the librarians.

3. The HEI shall have the right to prescribe its textbooks and other instructional materials in print and/or electronic formats.

4. The library shall have a written collection development plan/policy to specify the acquisition strategies, ratio of progressive development of both print and electronic resources to support research and instruction, including online teaching and flexible learning modalities. The plan/policy shall be prepared in consultation with the Library Advisory Committee and approved by the administration.

5. A periodic evaluation of existing collection of print and electronic using various approaches/tools shall be conducted.

6. A regular weeding or deselection program shall be undertaken to keep the collections of print and electronic relevant and up-to-date.

b. Library Holdings

1. For newly-established institution, the start-up total library book collection shall be at least 3,000 titles. In the granting of government recognition, the total book collection shall be at least 5,000 titles. These titles shall be in a combination of print and electronic formats. The ratio of the print and electronic resources shall be determined by the institution based on its modalities of flexible learning strategies and may be augmented/supplemented with materials from open educational resources (OER) as determined by curators composed of faculty and librarians. For easy monitoring, these resources shall be listed/recorded and be made available in any discovery tool or an online public catalog.

2. To promote Philippine arts, culture and local history materials, the library shall maintain Filipiniana resources, both print and electronic formats, equivalent to ten percent (10%) of the current total collection. Acquisition and usage shall be monitored through the library system, both manually and electronically.

3. Adequate, relevant, and current resources, both print and non-print, shall be provided to support general education subjects.

4. For each undergraduate program offering, the library shall provide five (5) relevant book titles for each major subject published within the last five (5) years, in combination of print and purchased electronic formats, the ratio of which shall be determined by the institution. For subjects that do not normally come out with new edition/book titles, the required recency of publication of five (5) years may be waived.

5. For each graduate program offering, the library shall provide additional five (5) relevant book titles for each specialized discipline offered under the program, published within the last five (5) years, in a combination of print and purchased electronic formats, the ratio of which shall be determined by the institution. At least one (1) of the five titles is published by a foreign reputable academic pres. (Refer to CMO No. 15, series of 2019).

6. For reserve and frequently used books, at least one (1) copy, both print and electronic, shall be provided. Only one (1) copy, either print or electronic, shall be acquired for books that are not to be put on reserve or not frequently used.

7. A periodical collection composed of local and foreign titles shall be provided by the library. The minimum periodical titles shall be at least fifty (50), in combination of print and electronic formats, the ratio of which shall be determined by the institution.

8. For each undergraduate program, at least three (3) titles of professional journals, local and foreign publications, in combination of print and electronic formats, shall be subscribed to, the ratio of which shall be determined by the institution.

9. For each graduate program, at least two (2) peer-reviewed professional journals or internationally-refereed journals shall be subscribed to in addition to the three (3) undergraduate journal titles, in combination of print and electronic formats determined by the institution. Subscription or access (through a consortium, interlibrary basis) to electronic databases of international and reputable journals indexed in internationally recognized indexes of scholarly journals shall be institutionalized to maximize the use of electronic databases (Refer to CMO No. 15, series of 2019).

10. Non-print/audiovisual materials and electronic/digital resources shall be made available.

11. Special collections, including theses and dissertations in print and electronic formats, and relevant multimedia, in compliance with the Intellectual Property Code, shall be made available to meet the requirements of the various programs and courses offered.

12. For institutions with satellite campuses, the minimum requirements for professional holdings for both undergraduate and graduate programs shall be maintained in the said campuses. Sharing of electronic/digital resources from the main to the satellite library or among system-schools or consortia shall be institutionalized to maximize the use and benefits of electronic resources and justify acquisition and maintenance cost.

13. Local Universities and Colleges (LUCs) may share resources with the city/provincial libraries in their localities. Relevant library collection of the city/provincial libraries shall be counted in compliance with the library collection requirements in this CMO.

c. Organization

1. The library collection shall be organized to ensure efficient identification and retrieval. It shall be cataloged, classified and/or indexed according to accepted standards of bibliographic description and system of classification.

2. An online catalog or a discovery tool shall be made available for easy access to available resources.

reference management (including citation tools), virtual conference or online meetings, media streaming, etc.

b. Innovative and flexible library services shall be designed to continuously provide students, teaching and non-teaching personnel, and other stakeholders access to information for new learning modalities such as but not limited to the following:

   i. Virtual library (students/faculty and other stakeholders can access the collection through the OPAC).
   ii. Circulation services, face-to-face and online, through:
      - book padala or courier
      - book pick up and drop off in designated areas
      - scanning or digitization
      - photocopying
   iii. Electronic database instruction and training

c. The use of purchased/subscribed electronic resources shall follow the rules and policies stipulated in the license agreement.

d. The library shall undertake various strategies to promote and inform the users of library collections and services.

Section 6. Physical Facilities

a. The library shall be strategically located with adequate space and facilities for students, faculty, staff, and others that can accommodate at least five percent (5%) of the total on-site users.

b. There shall be dedicated learning spaces for discussion, creation, and innovation.

c. Adequate space for office use and staff work area, storage of inactive collections and supplies, as well as conservation area shall be provided.

e. There shall be proper lighting and ventilation in all areas of the library.

f. Appropriate and comfortable furniture shall be provided.

g. Facilities for persons with disabilities (PWDs) shall be made available (e.g. ramps, railings, comfort rooms, etc.) and other requirements specified in existing laws shall be made available to persons with special needs.

h. There shall be emergency exits, fire extinguishers, built-in emergency lights, and other measures deemed necessary and required by the National Building Code of the Philippines.

Section 7. Information Technology Infrastructure and Services

a. The library shall have the basic infrastructure to support the IT-enabled operations and services which may include, but not limited to, Internet-connected computers with productivity software, Wi-Fi access points, printers, scanners, and other information appliances such as photocopiers.

b. The library shall provide adequate computing devices (e.g., desktop computers, laptops, tablets) to access electronic resources and Web services.

c. A library automation plan to establish and/or implement an Integrated Library System (ILS) shall be in place. The ILS will facilitate the application modules designed to perform the technical and readers' services functions of the library such as acquisitions, cataloging, serials management, indexing, resource discovery (searching), as well as circulation and transaction monitoring.

d. The library shall have an official website to serve as a gateway to its online catalog and other electronic learning resources (e.g., online databases, e-books, e-journals), and/or online services.

Section 8. Financial Resources

a. The head librarian shall prepare an annual budget proposal to support the entire library operation for consideration and approval of the management.

b. The institution shall set a library fee at a realistic level, to be reviewed periodically and used for library development.

c. The library shall explore other ways of augmenting its financial resources when the institutional funds are inadequate.

Section 9. Linkages and Networking

a. The librarians shall engage in local, regional, and international linkages and networking activities.

b. The librarians shall participate in inter-institutional activities, cooperative programs, as well as community service learning (e.g., help develop reading habits of public school students).

Section 10. Repealing Clause

This CMO supersedes all previous issuances concerning library requirements which may be inconsistent or contradictory with any of the provisions hereof.

Section 11. Transitory Provisions

All public and private HEIs shall fully comply with all the minimum requirements prescribed in this CMO within a non-extendable period of three (3) years after the date of its effectivity.

For immediate dissemination and implementation.
